THE NOVGOROD TRAGEDY.

A Russian Mutiny and How it was Punished.

Paris Figaro,

One need not be surprised at anything that happens in Russia. The other evening, while smoking a cigar with one of my old friends, who has seen, read and traveled a great deal, I was told of an incident which occurred some forty years ago at Novgorod, quite as sinister as that which recently occurred at Smargon, when a population of raging madmen flung little children into a blazing fire, and revealed at the sight of the poor little bodies writhing like vine-stems upon the blazing coals. But in the narrative I am about to relate there was no race hatred or religious passion for a motive.

The Colonel of a certain Russian regiment, ferociously tyrannical, and, I may say, merciless toward his soldiers, was in the habit of treating his human flock like a pack of brutes. His discipline with the knout; sentencing men to whipping for having one button, insufficiently polished; whipping a non-commissioned officer for one stain on his cloak; striking veterans of Borodino in the face for saluting too slowly; sending poor wretches to Siberia for giving too free an answer. In short, during the lapse of years, this Colonel had made himself so detested by his men that he reaped a frightful vengeance from the seeds of hatred he had sown.

One morning during parade he suddenly saw file off from the regiment a company of soldiers bearing instead of muskets, those long rods which cut deeply into the flesh at every blow.

Nevertheless he had given no orders. There was no soldiers to chastise.

"Who is that for?" he demanded.

A grenadier advanced from the ranks and replied, with terrible coolness: "For thee."

The entire regiment, non-commissioned officers and soldiers, were in the plot, which had been concocted in the barracks. The whole regiment was present at the terrible spectacle. The Colonel was seized his uniform torn off, he was tied down in a wheelbarrow and wheeled up and down before the ranks of the grenadiers with rods, all of whom struck and insulted him. The officers who attempted to aid their Colonel were immediately seized, and bayonets pointed at their throats. Some were taken away; others garroted. Only one soldier attempted to take part with them. Then a Sergeant, still pallid from the effects of his last whipping with the knout, put his musket to the soldier's temple and blew his brains out.

And all the regiment saw its Colonel pass under the rods.

When it was all over they opened a kilnoven. The Colonel was flung into it, all bleeding, together with the officers who had well obeyed him. And when the furnace was well fed the soldiers heated it slowly, very slowly, until at last that hideous, heavy and revolting smell of melting fat and burning flesh arose in the air, which the savages of the Russian frontier inhaled some days ago at a Jewish cemetery at Smargon.

But the tragedy of Novgorod was not yet over!

An imperial courier bore to the Czar the news of the mutiny. Nicholas listened, became white, but said nothing, except to order four batteries of artillery to Novgorod. Ten days after a white-haired and gray-mustached Major General accompanied by a single aid-de-camp, knocked at the door of the barracks, which the soldiers had never left since the murder of their chief.

The general gazed coldly upon those pale men, all neatly and faultlessly uniformed, who gave him the military salute. Not a reproach—not one useless word. He only said to them:

"A six o'clock to-morrow morning the regiment will assemble in undress uniform and without arms at the Tartar camp, upon the Little square. Order of the Czar." Not one voice replied. But the next day upon the narrow square, all in ranks, without arms, with their long gray coats, their sergeants at their posts, all the mutinous soldiers were there, in lines regular as if adjusted to a string, with a double line of lance-bearing Cossacks before and behind. Then all at once from every far spire all the great bells began to toll. The Cossack horsemen withdrew. Only the unarmed infantry remained upon the square, with folded arms, waiting. Then there came a long, low roll of drums, and with it from all the avenues leading into the square came volleys of grape like iron hail.

Then nothing was heard for a while but the thunder of the cannon in that city, otherwise silent as a cemetery, when men, women and children, kneeling before their holy images, were praying for the soldiers they were shooting down in the square. And during an interval in the cannonade a hymn rolled up from the square, for the soldiers were dying with the prayers of their childhood upon their lips. The cannon thundered for hours. Then all was silent. Powder and iron rested awhile. The cannoners entered the square and recoiled at the sight of those ranks of men mown down like wheat—the marsh of blood. From under the dead they pulled out a few still breathing victims, able to live awhile.

"What shall be done with them general? Shall we put them in the hospital?" "Put them under the knout."

What a Surveyor Missed.

"What are you going to do now?" asked the old man of the surveyor, who was surveying the line between two farms. "Find the exact line," was the reply.

At this the man wheeled and went off on the gallop, and he was seen no more until the line had been run. The surveyor and the first named farmer had just completed the work when the other came up to within about ten feet of them and asked:

"Well, have you got through?"

"Yes, all through."

"And is the fence a foot on his farm?"

"No; he has two feet of yours, and the fence must be moved so that you can have it."

The man sprang upon a stump, faced a thicket about ten rods away, and yelled out:

"You there—Reuben and James and Samuel! The survey is made and we are all right! You kin shoulder them shot-guns and go back to the sawmill, and if you meet the old woman coming with the pitchfork, you kin tell her to turn back and git up a squar' dinner for the surveyor!"

"Biz," a Commercial Name.

"I never was in favor of war," said an old Arkansawer, "but I notice that some of the world's greatest men are not of my opinion. Now there's old Trademark. He's a great man, and he believes in war."

"Old who?" asked a bystander.

"Old Trademark."

"Who the deuce is Trademark?"

"No wonder they call us ignorant when such fellars as you show your lack of schoolin'. Didn't you never hear of the great German military man, Trademark?"

"I've heard of Bismarck."

"That's a fact. 'Biz'-mark. I knowed that it was some sort of a commercial name."

A Retort Courteous.

Special Dispatch to New York Tribune.

WASHINGTON, July 15.—"How I enjoy the return of Saturday night," said Senator Vance in the horse-car riding up from the senate.

"Yes," rejoined Senator Hoar, "if you were a republican you might join with Dr. Watts in saying."

"How pleasant is Saturday night when I've tried all the week to be good."

"Not being a republican," returned the North Carolinian, "I can't tell a lie like that."

Senator Hoar offered Senator Vance his hat, which was declined quietly but firmly.

Verdict for $3,500.

In the circuit court Friday, 21st inst., the jury in the case of Jefferson Watson vs. Lewis Jefferson, administrator of Cunningham Holliday, deceased, returned a verdict for $3,500 in favor of the plaintiff. The defendant filed a motion for a new trial Saturday, which was overruled by the court. The case will probably go to the court of appeals.

The Blue Licks Battle Monument Association met this week at the Springs to select a site for the proposed monument. The spot chosen is one overlooking the buildings at the Springs, the wooded heights of the Licking, and a long stretch of the country of the two counties of Nicholas and Robertson. It is within two hundred yards of the spot where Colonel John Todd fell in the first fire opened upon his column by the Indians.

Has it ever occurred to our readers that Aberdeen would be a charming place for a summer resort? Nestling closely at the foot of those lovely river hills, it has all the charms of an Arcadian hamlet. How cool and inviting those pleasant little cottages; how delightfully refreshing the moonlight excursions upon the water; how invigorating the public baths along the river front; how inspiring the copious draughts of "medicated water." And, then, occasionally to vary the monotony, one may step over to the squire's and get married.

PERSONALS.

Points About People Here and Elsewhere.

Dr. Thomas H. N. Smith will leave tomorrow for Esculapia Springs, and expects to be absent about a week. The BULLETIN wishes him a pleasant visit.

Mr. Charles Herbst, of Macon, Ga., a former Maysville boy, is here to-day renewing his old friendships. He is a welcome visitor to our community.

Master Harry Owens and Will Stockton, two of our expert young wheelmen, left Maysville on Thursday, on their velocipedes for Lewisburg. They arrived there safely, dined with Mr. A. K. Marshall and returned in the afternoon. They made good time both ways.

Society Scintillations.

White cravats are much worn by gentlemen. That's why so many are used in the BULLETIN office.

We desire to state that the press of business will detain us from visiting any of the summer resorts this season. However we hope by next year to have all of our delinquent subscribers square on our books.

High society will not bathe at the river this year. It is too much of a give away on shanks, shins, and bald heads.

A Wilde fact soberly announced is that embroidered mustard plasters is the fashion for highly æsthetic invalids in Maysville this season.

Set it down as Fashion's law,
To hook your fin into her claw,
And as you sail along the street
The mob will say, oh! too, too sweet.

"I can't marry you, Adolphus, because there is no community of interest between us; we think alike about nothing."

"Oh, yes, we do, Susette."

"Indeed we do not—there is nothing we agree about."

"If I tell you something we agree about darling, will you consent to marry me?"

"I will, indeed—and you can bet your sweet life the wedding won't take place."

"Well, Susette, suppose we were traveling and came to a hotel, and there was but one room, containing two beds, and in one bed was a man and in the other a woman, now which would you prefer to occupy?"

"Why the one containing the woman, of course."

"Well, so would I."

The wedding took place three weeks later, under a wedding bell made of sun-flowers and johnny-jump-ups while the organ played "The baboon married the monkey's sister." No cards.

The new shade of blue is called the Johnny Kirk blue and will be introduced here next August, at the same time as water melons—just after the election.

Advice to those contemplating marriage: As soon as possible put the green baby into a baby carriage and push it along the sidewalk, running into everybody with it and getting admiring crowds at the crossings to worship it. This will give the little one some idea of the way of getting on in the world in later years.

The best dressing for children is the sole of a slipper. It should be gently swayed in the air above them and applied vigorously to—correct any faults they may have.

Fairy Land in Maysville.

The East End Reed and Cornet Band will repeat the fete this evening at the school grounds in East Maysville, and will offer more attractions than usual. There will be a large stage for dancing, music by the Aberdeen and East End Bands, and refreshments of all kinds.

A fete at the pavilion corner of Second and Short streets, is also announced to take place this evening. A large stage will be provided for dancing, and the music will be by the Maysville Orchestra, comprising six well known musicians. Good order will be maintained, and refreshments of all kinds can be obtained on the grounds.

On Monday evening there will be a fete in the beautiful grounds in the rear of Mr. Tim Mendall's business house on Second street. There will be good music and the best facilities for dancing. Refreshments of all kinds will be provided.

Religious.

The usual service will be held at St. Patrick's Church to-morrow by Rev. J. B. Glorieux, the pastor.

On account of the absence from the city of the Rev. J. K. Pace, there will be no services at the Baptist church, to-morrow.

The Rev. W. D. Powers, of the Church of the Nativity, being absent from the city there will be no service there to-morrow morning or evening.

The Presbtery of Ebenezer has decided to defer action on the resignation of the Rev. A. R. Kennedy until the regular meeting of that body next September.

Rev. Mr. Bradford, of the Tollesboro circuit, will preach at the Third street M. E. Church to-morrow morning at the usual hour. There will be preaching also at night.

The Sunday school services of both Presbyterian churches will be omitted to-morrow, the Sabbath school room being in disorder on account of the repairs in progress.

Dr. D. O. Davies, of Henderson, Ky., has finally, after much deliberation, declined the calls of Augusta and Sharon churches. It is a source of great disappointment to not only the two churches but to many citizens of both neighborhoods.

Last Sunday evening a Boston divine suddenly paused somewhat near the close of his sermon and said: "We would all be glad if that young man in the vestibule would come inside and satisfy himself whether she is, or is not, here. That would be much better than keeping a half-inch draught on the occupants of the back pew." And in the solemn silence that followed, the congregation could hear a sound outside as of the retreat of an army with banners.

The Christian church will hold a state missionary meeting in this city on the 22d, 23d and 24th of August. Ministers and prominent representatives of the church are expected from almost every portion of the state, and an interesting time may be looked for. Messrs. H. C. Barkley and G. S. Judd have been appointed a committee to arrange for transportation, and Messrs. Perrine Larew, A. B. Crum, Edward Myall, John H. Hall and George T. Wood, committees in their respective wards to assign homes to the delegates.

ALTHOUGH the whole world knows that the republican organ is a colossal one, it doesn't seem to have as much push in it as one might suppose. It is in a feeble state of erection this morning, and, possibly, may collapse before night.

"Take it up tenderly
Lift it with care,
Fashioned so slenderly
Young and so fair."

COUNTY POINTS.

MURPHYSVILLE.

Miss Etta Prather departed a few days ago for Cynthiana to visit her brother, W. V. Prather. She has been one of the most efficient and accomplished teachers Murphysville has ever had. A lady of cultivation and intellect, she gained the respect of her pupils and the approbation of her patrons. Conscientious in the discharge of her duties, she has met with the success she so richly deserves. It is with regret we see her depart, and in leaving our midst, she takes with her the good wishes of all. May she soon return. We will use our most earnest endeavors to secure her services for the coming session, and should we be so fortunate, the people of Murphysville have cause to be thankful. But no matter where she may cast her lot her fitness as a teacher, her untiring energy and ability, will ever crown her efforts with success. X.

ACROSS THE RIVER.

MANCHESTER.

On Thursday, George Lindsay, well known in this county, purchased a horse and buggy from a man named Douglas, at Dunkensville, for $170, representing that he had the above amount in S. B. Grimes' bank at West Union, Douglas called at the bank for the money, and was told that Lindsay had no money in the bank. In the mean time Lindsay ran off with the horse and buggy. Officers are in pursuit.

ABERDEEN ITEMS.

Preaching Sunday night by Rev. Rice, Mr. Frank Ellis accompanied by his mother, is visiting friends in Manchester.

Mr. O. Spears was in Georgetown this week. Miss True, of Farmington, Ohio, who has been visiting relatives here for several months, will leave Tuesday for Columbus.

Dr. Pickett, of Maysville, is in attendance on John Small, who was injured by a fall in Richmond, Ind.

The officers of the "Band of Hope," desire to see all the members present at their next meeting. Business of special importance is to be attended to.

Mr. Charles Sutton purchased the property occupied by Dr. Heaton of Mr. McClellan, of Manchester, Ohio.

Three young men were arrested for disorderly conduct, and while confined to the limits of the "Calaboose," it was discovered to be on fire, but fortunately the flames were extinguished before serious damage was done.

The Telephone in Germany and France.

So far back as November, 1877 (according to a recent statement by Herr Unger), did the German postal and telegraph authorities begin the use of the telephone in small places; and there are now 1,280 such telephone offices in the country. The public was slow to adopt the telephone for local traffic in large towns. Muhlhausen was the first to act, and a few months later, in April last year, telephone traffic was begun in Berlin with eighty-seven subscribers. The number of conversations by telephone in Berlin is now increasing by about 6,000 a month. Telephone systems are now at work in Hamburg, Frankfurt, Breslau, Cologne, and Mannheim; and in Altona, Barmen, Elberfeld, Hanover, Leipzig, Magdeburg, Stettin, Strasburg, Bremen and Dresden they are contemplated. In the first seven towns the telephone wires have reached a total length of 3,147 kilometers (say 1,966 miles). Berlin comes first with 1,554 kilometers, then come Hamburg with 911 kilometers; Breslau, with 200 kilometers; Frankfurt and Mannheim each with 163 kilometers; Muhlhausen, with 87 kilometers and Cologne with 69 kilometers. The total number of applicants in these seven towns in the end of December was 1,694, and the number increases every week. 1,413 had been put in communication; Berlin had 668 and Hamburg 623 applicants. There are three central stations in Berlin, in Franzosische, Mau-er, and Oranienburger streets respectively. From data in the first three weeks in December, it appears that, on an average, 1,650 connections were made daily (on the Sunday 720, 540, and 333). From 12 to 1 is the busiest time; during that hour 150 connections on an average were made in the office in Franzosische strasse, or five every two minutes. From 3 to 8 there is a little rest, and from 5 to 7 fresh activity. The telephone chambers in the Exchange have double walls, with ashes, clay or sawdust between; the inner walls have intervening a layer of thick paste-board, then cotton-covered felt on frames, and on this the paper. These chambers answer very well and are much frequented. There are again public telephone rooms (at present two in Berlin and one in Hamburg,) into which one may enter and on payment of 50 pfennig (say 5d), have five minutes talk by telephone with any one whose home or office is in the system. Turning to France, we learn that the number of lines supplied by the Societe Generale des Telephone on the 31st of January was 1,411, instead of 626 at the end of the corresponding week in 1881; and the communications in the last week of January this year amounted to 80,534. In Lyons the number of lines has increased from 37 in January, 1881, to 285 in January, 1882; in Marseilles, from 32 to 153; in Nantes, from 14 to 70; Bordeaux has continued with 132; Havre with 100; Lille with 5.—London Times.

A Mean Traveler and His Boy.

A prominent business man of this city was going to New York on the fast Atlantic Express with his son. The gate-keeper refused to pass them through without a ticket for the boy, and the ticket-agent refused to accept any thing less than a full fare for the gentleman's son. Then he sent a very small boy to make the purchase, but the ticket-agent had been watching his movements, and again refused to make a sale of that character. The irrepressible father soon made his appearance with a boy much smaller than the one he intended to take with him, but was again refused, although he insisted that he had with him the boy who accompanied him the first time. At last fully determined to succeed in the undertaking of getting his boy on the cars without buying him a full-fare ticket, the merchant stepped up to the office and handed in fare for Farmount, the first station west of here on the Auburn Road. The agent had no right to refuse it, and, consequently, the scheming passenger passed victoriously through the gate on a ticket which was no further use to him. Instances like the above are not of rare occurrence.—Syracuse Standard.

Kendall's Spavin Cure.

The Most Successful Remedy ever discovered, as it is certain it effects and does not blister. READ PROOF BELOW.

From Rev. P. N. GRANGER.

Presiding Elder of the St. Albans District.
ST. ALBANS, VT., Jan., 20, 1880.
DR. B. J. KENDALL & Co., Gents:—In reply to your letter I will say that my experience with Kendall's Spavin Cure has been very satisfactory indeed. Three or four years ago I procured a bottle of your agent, and with it, cured a horse of lameness caused by a spavin. Last season my horse became very lame and I turned him out for a few weeks when he became better, but when I put him on the road he grew worse, when I discovered that a ring-bone was forming, I procured a bottle of Kendall's Spavin Cure and with less than a bottle cured him so that he is not lame, neither can the bunch be found. Respectfully yours,
P. N. GRANGER.

Perseverance Will Tell.

STROUGHTON, MASS., March 16, 1880.
B. J. KENDALL & Co., Gents:—In justice to you and myself, I think I ought to let you know that I have removed two bone spavins with Kendall's Spavin Cure, one very large one, don't know how long the spavin had been there. I have owned the horse eight months. It took me four months to take the large one off and two for the small one. I have used ten bottles. The horse is entirely well, not at all stiff, and no bunch to be seen or felt. This is a wonderful medicine. It is a new thing here, but if it does for all what it has done for me it will be very great.

Respectfully yours, CHAS. E. PARKER.
KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE is sure in its effects, mild in its action as it does not blister, yet it is penetrating and powerful to reach a every deep seated pain or to remove any bony growth or other enlargement, such as spavins, splints, curbs, callous, sprains, swellings, any lameness and all enlargements of the joints or limbs, or rheumatism in man and for any purpose for which a liniment is used for man or beast. It is now known to be the best liniment for man ever used, acting mild and yet certain in its effects.

Send address for illustrated Circular which we think gives positive proof of its virtues. No remedy has ever met with such unqualified success to our knowledge, for beast as well as man.

Price $1. per bottle, or six bottles for $5. ALL

BATCHELDER'S

Ventilated Egg Case.

Patented February 15, 1881.

Indispensible to Merchants Shippers
And Producers.

The outside frame of this carrier contains five trays, held in place by fasteners at end of case, as seen in cut. These Trays are constructed in reversible halves. The above cut shows one whole tray filled ready to be placed in case, each egg resting in its cardboard socket in such a manner as to be readily counted, candled, or transferred from tray to tray, or case to case without rehandling.

For cold storage this case will store 60 dozen with racks made to receive the half trays, hence this is the cheapest storage case manufactured, saving largely in space.

The manner of holding the eggs on end prevents oscillation, adding, or breakage, and adds greatly to their freshness when carried long in storage. Size of 30 dozen No. 1 cases 25x12x14, weights 20 pounds.

PRICES IN CHICAGO.

Shipper's No. 1, 30 doz. Case with Fillers complete.....65 Cents.
Farmer's No. 1, 18 doz. Case with Fil-
lers complete.....55 Cents.
Cardboard Fillers for refilling 20 Cents.
15 per cent. discount on lots of 100 cases.
Batchelder's Egg Tester, 1-sting 6 doz.
at once, saves to buyers many times its cost each season. Price $3.00.

By special arrangements made by the manufacturers of this case most Railroads will receive them as fourth class freight.

The 15 dozen case made especially for Farmers' use, sent to any address by express, with out nailing, with full directions for setting up, on receipt of 50 cents. Every Farmer and consumer should have one of these cases, it will save its cost every month. Agents wanted in every county. Address,

J. H. BATCHELDER,
